PREFACE

The movement to provide for the compilation and publication of a revised record of the Massachusetts soldiers, sailors, and marines in the military and naval service of the United States in the Civil War was inaugurated about the time of the Spanish-American War and found embodiment in Chap. 475 of the Acts of 1899.

This act established a bureau of the office of the adjutant general, to be presided over by a board of three commissioners, which board was to consist of the adjutant general, the secretary of the commonwealth, and the auditor, and was to have general supervision of the entire work. The commissioners were authorized to appoint some suitable person to have direct charge of the compilation of the records, and the archives of the adjutant general's office were to be open and accessible to him.

The particulars which were to be stated in the record of each soldier, sailor, and marine were explicitly set forth, and the publication and distribution of the records were provided for. To carry out the provisions of the act the commission was authorized to expend the sum of ten thousand dollars annually.

The original commission was made up of Adjutant General Samuel Dalton, Secretary of the Commonwealth William M. Olin, and State Auditor John W. Kimball, all of whom had distinguished themselves and honored the commonwealth by years of faithful service both in the Union army and in civil life.

The commissioners appointed as the first compiler Col. Edward T. Bouvé who served in that capacity from Dec. 16, 1899, until his retirement Mar. 1, 1917. The governor then appointed Maj. William H. Alline, who had been connected with the work since its inception and had served twenty years as first clerk, to succeed Col. Bouvé as compiler. This position he held until his death which occurred April 21, 1923. The work was then placed under the direction of Hon. Fred W. Cross, military archivist in the adjutant general's office, by whom it was completed.

Some idea of the magnitude of the work accomplished may be gained from the following details. Over 1,000,000 original records have been examined and copied, in most cases each on a separate slip, records found on original enlistment papers, muster-in rolls, descriptive rolls, town reports, casualty lists, monthly reports, hospital records, muster-out rolls, and miscellaneous papers. All the cards or slips relating to men who served in Massachusetts units were then sorted and allocated by companies and regiments. First the slips belonging to each individual soldier had to be selected out and arranged in order in little packs by themselves. Then the packs had to be arranged alphabetically under their proper company heads. Finally the assembled records of the companies were arranged in order under their respective regimental designations.

It was found that many individual records were incomplete and could not be completed from the documents on file in the archives division of the adjutant general's office, hence resort had to be made to the files of the War and Navy Departments at Washington. In our letter books there are 12 volumes of letters containing about 2239 communications received from the War Department, and 17 volumes more containing approximately 3349 communications from the Navy Department, all of which have been received since the work of compilation was begun. In addition, thousands of cases have been referred to Leet Brothers, a research company in Washington, who have given us great assistance in the completion of the work.

One of the most important results of our correspondence with Leet Brothers and with the departments at Washington has been the removal of 1650 charges of desertion which formerly stood against the names of worthy Massachusetts soldiers and sailors.

After the records had been collected, carded, and assembled as above described, the story of each man's service was condensed into one brief paragraph, and these paragraphs were then put into typewritten form for the printer.

Even after most of the typing had been done, Mr. Cross went over personally every one of the typewritten sheets of the three years' regiments, while Miss Briggs, the senior clerk, went over all the sheets of the short term regiments to see that every battle casualty was properly and accurately stated both as to time and place.

The condensed historical sketches which appear before the respective regimental, battery, and unattached company rosters are based on those which appear in Volume I of MASSACHUSETTS IN THE ARMY AND NAVY and which were prepared by Thomas Wentworth Higginson, State Military and Naval Historian.

In the volume referred to there may be found an excellent narrative of the part played by Massachusetts troops in the war for the preservation of the Union, also carefully arranged schedules showing the number of men in each unit, the number of deaths from various causes, the number of major casualties in each action, and much other valuable information.

The original act, Chap. 475, Acts of 1899, has been several times amended.

By Chap. 491, Acts of 1908, the annual appropriation of $10,000 was discontinued, and the prosecution of the work was made dependent on such sums as the General Court might from time to time appropriate.

By Chap. 242, Acts of 1910, the entire section providing for the printing and distribution of the work was repealed.

By Chap. 211, Acts of 1912, the adjutant general was constituted sole commissioner.

By Chap. 30, General Acts of 1915, a change was made in the particulars to be included as a part of each man's record.

Finally, the work of compilation having been practically completed in the fall of 1929, His Excellency Governor Frank G. Allen, in his annual address to the General Court on the first day of January, 1930, recommended, "that authority be provided for the publication of these data in order that we may have a permanent and complete record of every veteran from Massachusetts who served in the Civil War."

This recommendation, supplemented by the petition of the Massachusetts Department, Grand Army of the Republic, and supported by the Woman's Relief Corps, the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, the Massachusetts Commandery of the Loyal Legion of the United States, the Department of Massachusetts, United Spanish War Veterans, the Department of Massachusetts, American Legion, the New England Historic Genealogical Society, and other patriotic societies, organizations, and individuals, found embodiment in Senate Resolve No. 80, which was enacted into law as Chap. 64, Resolves of 1930. This resolve reads as follows, —

RESOLVE TO PROVIDE FOR THE PRINTING AND DISTRIBUTION OF THE RECORDS OF THE SOLDIERS, SAILORS AND MARINES WHO SERVED TO THE CREDIT OF MASSACHUSETTS IN THE WAR FOR THE PRESERVATION OF THE UNION.

Resolved, That, after an appropriation has been made, there shall be allowed and paid out of the treasury of the commonwealth the sum of twenty thousand dollars, to be expended under the direction of the adjutant general, for the printing and binding of the first two volumes of an edition, not to exceed as to each such volume two thousand copies, of the records of the Massachusetts troops and officers, sailors and marines in the war of the rebellion, as compiled under the provisions of chapter four hundred and seventy-five of the acts of eighteen hundred and ninety-nine. Copies of each of said volumes shall be distributed by the state secretary as follows: to the adjutant general of the commonwealth, one hundred and fifty copies, for distribution to the adjutants general of the various states and territories within the United States, the library of the war department and of the navy department of the United States, and for purposes of exchange and additional distribution at his discretion; to the state librarian, fifty copies, for distribution at his discretion; to the library of congress, two copies; to the headquarters of the department of Massachusetts, Grand Army of the Republic, one copy; and, at the discretion of the state secretary, one copy of each such volume to the library of each state and territory within the United States, one copy to each free public library, and branch thereof, in the commonwealth, and, upon written application, one copy to each incorporated historical and antiquarian society in the commonwealth. After making the foregoing distribution, or making provision therefor, the state secretary shall place the remaining copies on sale to the general public, at a price not less than the cost of the printing and binding thereof.

Approved May 28, 1930.

The names of all men who served in Massachusetts units during the Civil War appear in this compilation. The question whether men who served in the United States Army, United States Colored Troops, Veteran Reserve Corps, or organizations from other states should be taken up was decided on the basis of residence in Massachusetts or credit to some town or city in Massachusetts. The same rule applies largely to enlistments in the Navy and Marine Corps.

The work of compilation was begun by veterans who had themselves been participants in the war which saved the Union. One by one those men passed to their rest, and their places were taken by men and women who, like their predecessors, have been deeply impressed with the importance and the sacredness of the task. The finished work is now presented to the public in the belief that it contains a fairly complete and correct record of the men of Massachusetts who served in the Civil War.

JESSE F. STEVENS,
The Adjutant General.

FIRST REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER INFANTRY

Three Years

The 1st Regt. Mass. Vol. Inf. was the outgrowth of the 1st Regt. Mass. Vol. Mil., commanded by Col. Robert Cowdin, who became colonel of the 1st Inf. when its organization was completed. To the five companies of the 1st Regt. Mass. Vol. Mil. were added five others of volunteers raised in April, 1861. Four companies were mustered into the service May 23, four others May 24, and one each on May 25 and May 27. On June 1 the regiment assembled at Camp Ellsworth on the banks of Fresh Pond in Watertown. Twelve days later it was transferred to Camp Cameron in North Cambridge.

Leaving Massachusetts June 15, on the 17th it reached Washington. Assigned to Richardson's Brigade of Tyler's Division, it remained in camp near Washington until the advance to Bull Run where it participated in the battle at Blackburn's Ford, July 18, three days before the main battle of Bull Run.

In August it became a part of the famous Hooker Brigade. During the fall it was encamped for some time at Bladensburg, did duty on the Potomac above Washington, built Fort Lincoln, moved to Budd's Ferry, and was variously engaged until spring when it became a part of Grover's Brigade, Hooker's Division, Heintzelman's (3d) Corps, and was transferred to the Peninsula.

On April 6 it was in action before Yorktown, and on May 5 it suffered heavily at Williamsburg. It was encamped in the White Oak Swamp region until June 25 when it was engaged with loss at Fair Oaks. During the Seven Days battles it lost heavily at Glendale, June 30, its major, Charles P. Chandler being killed. After the battle of Malvern Hill it retired to Harrison's Landing where it remained until August when it was ordered back to the defenses of Washington.

Joining Gen. Pope's army near Warrenton Jc., as a part of Grover's Brigade, Hooker's Division, it was in action at Bristoe Station, Aug. 27, and again near Groveton (Manassas), Aug. 29, where it assaulted the celebrated railroad embankment and suffered severe loss. After the campaign was ended the regiment remained in or near the defenses of Washington until the last of October. About this time Gen. Carr succeeded Gen. Grover in command of the brigade. After Fredericksburg, where the regiment suffered slight loss, it went into winter quarters at Acquia Creek on the Potomac.

As a part of Carr's Brigade, Berry's Division, Sickles' (3d) Corps, it lost heavily at Chancellorsville, May 3, 1863, and still more heavily at Gettysburg, July 2, while defending the line of the Emmittsburg road. At Wapping Heights, July 23, in New York City during the late summer and fall, at Kelly's Ford, Nov. 7, and during the Mine Run campaign in the latter part of November the regiment performed valuable service with few casualties. The following winter was spent in camp near Brandy Station.

When the 3d Corps was broken up in the early spring of 1864 the 1st Regt. became a part of McAllister's Brigade, Mott's Division, Hancock's (2d) Corps. With this command it participated in the battles of the Wilderness and Spottsylvania, its last combat service being in Hancock's assault on the Bloody Angle, May 12, 1864.

Transferring its recruits and reënlisted men to the 11th Mass. Inf., about May 20 it left the front and returned to Boston where it was mustered out on May 25, after fully three years of service.

SECOND REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER INFANTRY

Three Years (Re-enlisted)

The 2d Regt. Mass. Vol. Inf. was recruited in April, 1861, by George H. Gordon, a West Point graduate, who became its first colonel. It was the first regiment composed wholly of volunteers raised in Massachusetts for the war. It was organized at Camp Andrew at Brook Farm in West Roxbury, and was mustered into the service May 25, 1861.

Leaving Massachusetts July 8, it joined the force of Gen. Patterson at Martinsburg, Va., on the 12th. The summer and fall were spent largely in picketing the line of the upper Potomac. In the late fall it was in camp at Seneca Creek near Darnestown, Md., and early in December it went into winter quarters at Camp Hicks on the Baltimore pike about four miles east of Frederick, Md.

Late in February it moved into the Shenandoah Valley, the troops there being now under the command of Gen. N. P. Banks. On March 10, Col. Gordon was given command of the brigade, and the 2d now became a part of Gordon's (3d) Brigade, of Banks' Division. On March 26, immediately after the battle of Kernstown, Gen. Banks was given command of the newly formed 5th Corps, and the 2d Mass. became a part of Gordon's (3d) Brigade, Williams' (1st) Division of that corps. The 2d Division was commanded by Gen. Shields. While Shields was fighting Jackson at Kernstown, March 23, the 2d Mass., with the exception of Co. G, was on an expedition toward Snicker's Gap. Returning immediately to Winchester the regiment joined in the pursuit of Jackson through Strasburg, New Market, and on as far as Harrisonburg. Here it remained until May 5, when it joined in the retrograde movement to Strasburg, which it reached May 13. On May 24 and 25 it fell back with Banks' command through Newtown, Kernstown, and Winchester, distinguishing itself by excellent rear guard fighting and reaching the ford of the Potomac at Williamsport on the night of the 25th. While at Williamsport Col. Gordon was promoted to Brigadier General, U. S. Volunteers.

On June 10 the regiment again advanced, passing through Martinsburg and Winchester and on to a position near Front Royal, where it remained until July 6. It then moved over Chester Gap to Little Washington, where on July 17 it became a part of Pope's Army of Virginia, Banks' command being now known as the 2d Corps.

At Cedar Mountain, August 9, the 2d Regiment suffered severe loss. At Antietam, September 17, it was again heavily engaged, losing its commander, Lieut. Col. Wilder Dwight. Here it formed a part of Mansfield's (12th) Corps.

After a winter spent in camp near Stafford Court House, the regiment participated in the battle of Chancellorsville, May 1 to 5, and in the battle of Gettysburg, July 1 to 3, suffering severely, especially at Gettysburg, where it lost another commander, Lieut. Col. Charles R. Mudge.

In August it was sent to New York City to aid in the suppression of the draft riots which were still raging. In September it was transferred to Stevenson, Ala., the 11th and 12th Corps being now attached to the Army of the Cumberland. In December a sufficient number of members re-enlisted to preserve the identity of the regiment and it became known as the 2d Regt. Mass. Veteran Volunteers.

In April, 1864, the 11th and 12th Corps were consolidated to form the 20th Corps commanded by Gen. Joseph Hooker and later by Col. George A. Mower. As a part of the 2d Brigade, 1st Division, 20th Corps, Army of Georgia, the 2d, a veteran regiment, participated in the battles of Resaca, Kenesaw Mountain, and the siege of Atlanta, was in the March to the Sea, in the operations before Savannah, and in the northward march through Georgia and the Carolinas. Averysboro, N. C., fought March 16, 1865, was its last important battle. When Johnston surrendered, April 26, the regiment was at Raleigh, N. C., doing guard duty.

Marching all the way back to Washington, it was in the Grand Review, May 24. On July 14 it was mustered out, but the men were not paid off and discharged until July 26, when they were assembled for the last time at Readville, Mass.

THIRD REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER MILITIA (INFANTRY)

Three Months

The 3d Regt. Mass. Vol. Mil., "Minute Men," was summoned to Boston by Special Order No. 14, issued on the afternoon of April 15, 1861, by Adjutant General Schouler. Company C of Cambridge was the first Massachusetts company actually raised for the war. Embarking for Virginia at Central Wharf, Boston, April 18, it sailed for Fort Monroe, arriving at its destination on the 20th, two hours after the 4th Regt. Almost immediately it took part in the destruction of the Gosport Navy Yard. It formed a part of the garrison of Fort Monroe until July, when it removed to Hampton, Va., where it remained most of the time until its return to Boston on the 19th of the month. On July 23 it was mustered out of the United States service.

Four companies, D, E, I, and M, which had enlisted for three years and had joined the regiment in May, remained in the service, and became Companies B, D, E, and I of the 29th Regt., which was then being organized.

THIRD REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER MILITIA (INFANTRY)

Nine Months

Under the call of August 4, 1862, for 300,000 militia for nine months, 19,080 being the number assigned to the quota of Massachusetts, the 3d Regt. again volunteered for duty and was sent to Camp Joe Hooker at Lakeville, Mass., to recruit to war strength. Eight companies were mustered into the service on the 23d of September and the remaining two on the 26th. Destined for duty in the department of North Carolina, the regiment embarked on the 22d of October and reached Beaufort on the 26th, the same day as the 5th Regt., and proceeded by rail to Newbern. It was not very actively engaged until December 11, when it started on the Goldsboro expedition, which occupied eleven days. Present at Kinston, Whitehall, and Goldsboro, the regiment suffered only slight loss, being little engaged. On January 26, 1863, it moved to Camp Jourdan near Fort Totten on the defenses of Newbern. After having been engaged in several minor expeditions, one for the relief of Washington, N. C., in June, its term of service having expired, it was ordered to Massachusetts. Embarking on the 11th of the month, on the 16th it arrived in Boston, and was mustered out at its old rendezvous, Camp Joe Hooker, Lakeville, Mass., June 26.

N. B. Company "I," having been detached from the regiment Nov. 30, 1862, and sent to Plymouth, N. C., was there engaged with a force of Confederate troops, Dec. 10, losing two men killed or mortally wounded and several prisoners.

FOURTH REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER MILITIA (INFANTRY)

Three Months

The 4th Regt. Mass. Vol. Mil. "Minute Men," was summoned to Boston by Special Order No. 14, issued on the afternoon of April 15, 1861, from the office of the Adjutant General of Massachusetts. Company F of Foxboro had offered its services, if they should be needed "at any point of our country," as early as January 10, 1861. The 4th had the honor of being the first regiment to leave the State, entraining for Fall River en route for Fort Monroe on the afternoon of April 17. For a month it formed a part of the garrison of Fort Monroe. On May 27, it was sent to Newport News, where it was employed most of the time until its return to Massachusetts in fortifying Camp Butler. On June 10, Company H and four other companies took part in the battle of Big Bethel. Transferred to the village of Hampton July 3, on the 11th it marched to Fort Monroe, where on the 15th it embarked for Boston. Arriving in Boston Harbor, it was mustered out at Long Island on July 22, exactly three months from the day of its muster into the service.

Three companies, K, L, and the Wightman Rifles, which had enlisted for three years and had joined the regiment in May, were retained in the service and became Companies A, C, and K of the 29th Regt., which was then being organized.

FOURTH REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER MILITIA (INFANTRY)

Nine Months

Under the call of August 4, 1862, for 300,000 militia to serve nine months, 19,080 being the number assigned to the quota of Massachusetts, the 4th Regt. again volunteered and was ordered to Camp Joe Hooker at Lakeville, Mass., to recruit to war strength. Its companies were mustered into the United States service on various dates between Sept. 1, and Sept. 26, while the field and staff were mostly mustered December 16. On the 27th of December the regiment proceeded to New York where it embarked for Louisiana. It left New York Harbor January 3, 1863, and arrived at Carrolton, La., February 13. On March 7 it arrived at Baton Rouge, La., forming a part of Ingraham's Brigade, Emory's Division, 19th Corps. Here it coöperated with the Navy in the attempt of Admiral Farragut to run past the Port Hudson batteries. It engaged in the attack on Fort Bisland, April 11 to 13, and joined in the pursuit of the Confederates as far as Franklin. From the last of April until the 30th of May it was in or near Brashear City. During the first two weeks in June it participated in the siege of Port Hudson and on June 14 took part in the assault. After the surrender of the city July 8, the 4th Regt. did garrison duty in the defenses until the termination of its period of enlistment. The regiment started for home via Cairo, Ill., on the 4th of August and arrived in Boston on the 17th. It was mustered out at Camp Joe Hooker, August 28.

N.B. — The muster out rolls of the 4th Regiment show that it was present at Brashear City, La., on the occasion of the capture of that place by the Confederates, June 23, 1863, and that it lost a large number of prisoners.

FIFTH REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER MILITIA (INFANTRY)

THREE MONTHS

The 5th Regt. Mass. Vol. Mil., "Minute Men," was ordered to report for active duty and to proceed to the city of Washington by Special Order No. 35, issued by the Adjutant General of Massachusetts, April 19, 1861. To the five companies of the 5th Regt. were added four from the 7th Regt. and one from the 1st Regt., thus making up a full regiment of ten companies. On Sunday, April 21, the 5th entrained for Washington, where on May 1, its members were mustered into the service of the United States. For nearly four weeks it remained in the city of Washington, then on May 25 it was transferred to the Virginia shore, where it remained in camp near Alexandria until it marched toward Bull Run, forming a part of Franklin's brigade, Heintzelman's division, of McDowell's army. It was one of the three Massachusetts regiments engaged in the battle of Bull Run, July 21, 1861, where it lost nine killed, two wounded, and twenty-three prisoners. After this engagement the regiment remained in Washington until the latter part of the month when it was sent back to Boston where it was mustered out of the service July 31.

FIFTH REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER INFANTRY (MILITIA)

Nine Months

Under the call of August 4, 1862, for 300,000 militia to serve nine months, 19,080 of whom were assigned to the quota of Massachusetts, the 5th Regt. again volunteered for duty, thereby helping to avoid the employment of the draft. Its rendezvous was at Camp Lander, Wenham, Mass., where it was recruited to war strength, and where its companies were mustered into the service between September 16 and 29, 1862. Its field and staff officers were mustered in October 8. Ordered to the department of North Carolina, it reached Beaufort October 26, the same day as the 3d Regt., and there entrained for Newbern. Between November 2 and 13 it took part in the expedition toward Williamstown, N. C. On December 10 it joined the Goldsboro expedition, and during the succeeding eleven days marched 180 miles and participated in the battles of Kinston, Whitehall, and Goldsboro. It took part in two expeditions for the relief of Washington, N. C., which was besieged by the Confederates, also in the so called Gun Swamp expedition in May, 1863. On June 22 it proceeded to Morehead City, where it embarked on the steamer "Guide" for Boston. Arriving at Boston on the afternoon of the 25th, on July 2 it was mustered out of the service at Camp Lander, Wenham.

FIFTH REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER MILITIA (INFANTRY)

One Hundred Days

During the latter part of July, 1864, the 5th Regt. was again mustered into the service, this time for one hundred days, and was sent to Baltimore, Md., where it did guard duty at Fort McHenry, Fort Marshall, Federal Hill, and other places. Companies and detachments were stationed at various points in eastern Maryland where they were needed, especially during the autumn elections. On November 7 the regiment returned to Boston, and was mustered out at Readville, Mass., November 16.

SIXTH REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER MILITIA (INFANTRY)

Three Months

The 6th Regt. Mass. Vol. Mil., "Minute Men," was summoned to Boston by Special Order No. 14, issued on the afternoon of April 15, 1861, from the office of the Adjutant General of Massachusetts. At 7 o'clock on the evening of the 17th the regiment, fully armed and equipped, entrained for Washington. While passing through Baltimore, Md., April 19, a detachment of four companies, C, D, I, and L, under Captain Albert S. Follansbee, was set upon by a mob, and in the street fighting which followed four members of the detachment were killed and thirty-six wounded, the first soldiers to fall in the Civil War. This regiment was the first to arrive in Washington completely uniformed and equipped for service. It was at first quartered in the Senate Chamber in the Capitol. Mustered into the service April 22, it was soon transferred to the Relay House near Baltimore. In the occupation of Baltimore and in doing guard duty at or near the Relay House the regiment was occupied until July 29, when it entrained for Massachusetts. Reaching Boston on the 1st of August, on the following day it was mustered out of the service.

SIXTH REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER INFANTRY (MILITIA)

Nine Months

Under the call of August 4, 1862, for 300,000 militia to serve nine months, 19,080 being assigned to the quota of Massachusetts, the 6th Regt. again volunteered for duty, thus helping to avoid the employment of the draft to raise troops in this Commonwealth. Its rendezvous was at Camp Henry Wilson, Lowell, Mass. Its companies were mostly mustered in on August 31, but Company F was not mustered until September 8. Proceeding to Washington and thence to Fort Monroe, the regiment was engaged during the fall and winter in the Blackwater region, and during the spring participated in the defense of Suffolk, Va., when that city was menaced by a large force under Gen. Longstreet. At Carrsville, Va., May 14–16, 1863, the regiment was engaged with loss. The siege of Suffolk being ended, on the 26th of May the regiment left for Boston, where it arrived on the 29th. Proceeding to Lowell, on June 3 it was mustered out of the service.

SIXTH REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER MILITIA (INFANTRY)

One Hundred Days

In the middle of July, 1864, the 6th Regt. entered upon its third term of service, being mustered in between the 14th and 19th of the month for one hundred days. Proceeding to Washington, it was assigned to a post in the rear of Fort C. F. Smith on Arlington Heights,where it remained until August 21. It was then transferred to Fort Delaware on Pea Patch Island in Delaware Bay, where for a time it guarded a camp of 7000 Confederate prisoners. On the 19th of October the regiment entrained for Massachusetts, reaching Boston on the 21st. On October 27 it was mustered out of the service for the third and last time at Readville, Mass.

SEVENTH REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER INFANTRY

Three Years

The 7th Regt. Mass. Vol. Inf. was recruited largely through the efforts of Darius N. Couch, a West Point graduate, who became its first colonel, and later rose to the rank of major general, commanding the 2d Army Corps.

It was made up largely of men from Bristol County, and had its rendezvous at Camp Old Colony, Taunton, Mass. It was mustered into the service June 15, 1861.

Leaving Massachusetts July 12, it reached Washington on the 15th and was encamped at Kalorama Heights, Georgetown. August 6, it was brigaded with the 10th Mass., the 2d R. I., and the 36th N. Y. Inf., and soon removed to its permanent camp at Brightwood. Colonel Couch was soon promoted to brigadier general and was given the command of the brigade.

After a winter spent at Brightwood about the last of March the regiment was transferred to Fort Monroe from which point it joined the advance of the Army of the Potomac toward Yorktown. During the late spring and early summer it participated in the Peninsular campaign, being present at Yorktown, Williamsburg, Fair Oaks, and Oak Grove as a part of Devens' Brigade, Couch's Division, Keyes' (4th) Corps, Army of the Potomac.

Recalled from the front of Richmond, on September 1, 1862, it debarked at Alexandria. During the middle of this month it took part in the advance to South Mountain and Antietam, but was not engaged. Late in the fall Devens' command became the 2d Brigade, 3d Division, 6th Corps. It was present with slight loss at Fredericksburg December 13, 1862, then spent the winter in camp between Falmouth and White Oak Church.

On May 3, 1863, in coöperation with Hooker's flank movement to Chancellorsville, the 7th, as a part of the 6th Corps, participated in the capture of Marye's Heights and later in the battle at Salem Heights, suffering heavy casualties. It was with the 6th Corps in its march to Gettysburg, but suffered no loss in that engagement. After participating in the capture of Rappahannock Station and in the Mine Run campaign, in December, 1863, the regiment went into winter quarters near Brandy Station. In the reorganization of the Army of the Potomac during the succeeding winter the brigade to which the 7th belonged became Eustis' (4th) Brigade, Getty's (2d) Division, 6th Corps.

On the first day of the battle of the Wilderness, May 5, 1864, Getty's division, detached from its corps, opened the infantry fighting on the Plank road, on this and the succeeding day losing 120 men, 15 being killed and 13 mortally wounded. On May 8, the opening day at Spottsylvania, the 7th captured the colors and 32 men of a Georgia regiment. Ten days later it participated in the final attack at Spottsylvania, then joined in the flank movement to the North Anna and Cold Harbor. At the latter place it was engaged June 1 to 12, with some loss. On June 15, its term of service having expired, the regiment withdrew from the front and returned to Washington. Sent northward, it reached Taunton, Mass., June 20, and on the 27th day of June it was mustered out of the service.

EIGHTH REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER MILITIA (INFANTRY)

THREE MONTHS

The 8th Regt. Mass. Vol. Mil., "Minute Men," was called to Boston by Special Order No. 14, issued on the afternoon of April 15, 1861, by the Adjutant General of Massachusetts. Having only eight companies, one company was added from the 7th Regt., a Salem unit, and one from Pittsfield, taken from the 1st Battalion of Infantry. Leaving the State April 18, it proceeded to Annapolis, Md., on its way to the national capital. At Annapolis two companies were placed on the frigate CONSTITUTION, guarding her until she was safely removed to the harbor of New York. Another company was detached to do guard duty at Fort McHenry near Baltimore, Md. The remainder of the regiment, after repairing the road-bed from Annapolis to Annapolis Junction and restoring the rolling stock of the railroad, proceeded to Washington, arriving April 26. Not until April 30 were the men mustered into the service of the United States. On May 11 the regiment was ordered into camp at the Relay House, Md. Here Col. Munroe resigned on account of age and ill health, and was succeeded by Col. Edward W. Hinks, an officer destined to attain high rank before the war was done. On July 2d the entire regiment was ordered to Baltimore, Md., the left wing arriving in the morning and the right wing in the evening of the following day. On July 29 it was ordered to Boston, Mass., and here on August 1, 1861, it was mustered out of the service.

EIGHTH REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER MILITIA (INFANTRY)

Nine Months

Under the call of August 4, 1862, for 300,000 militia to serve nine months, 19,080 being assigned to the quota of Massachusetts, the 8th Regt. again volunteered for duty, thus helping to obviate the necessity of resorting to the draft. Its rendezvous was Camp Lander, Wenham, Mass., where it was recruited up to war strength. Most of its companies were mustered in between September 15 and October 1, but Company H was not ready for muster until October 30. On November 25, 1862, the regiment left the State for North Carolina, where it was assigned to the 2d Brigade of General Foster's Division, encamping on the Fair Grounds at Newbern. On the 9th of December the regiment was detached to do guard duty at Newbern while the rest of the brigade went on the Goldsboro expedition. Early in December two companies were detached from the regiment to do guard duty at Roanoke Island, and two months later two more companies were sent to the same place. Meanwhile two companies were assigned to duty at Fort Totten, one of the defenses of Newbern. The four remaining companies were in the expedition to relieve Washington, N. C., proceeding as far as Blount's Creek, where they were engaged with slight loss April 9.

On June 28 the regiment was ordered to Boston for muster out, but on reaching Baltimore, Md., July 1, it was detained, and on the 6th was sent to Maryland Heights near Harper's Ferry, arriving July 7, and occupying Fort Duncan. On July 13 it joined the Army of the Potomac in front of Williamsport, making a forced march of 25 miles in 16 hours. On the 26th, after Lee's army had retired across the Potomac into Virginia, the regiment was ordered to Massachusetts, reaching Boston July 29, and being mustered out of the service August 7.

EIGHTH REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER MILITIA (INFANTRY)

One Hundred Days

In July, 1864, the 8th Regt. began its third term of service, its companies being mustered into the service on various dates between the 13th and 21st of the month for one hundred days. Some of the nine months companies do not appear in the regiment as then organized, their places being filled by companies from the westerly part of the State. The regiment rendezvoused at Camp Meigs, Readville, Mass., proceeding from there to Baltimore, Md. In the vicinity of this city most of the service of the regiment was performed. Portions of the regiment did guard duty in Baltimore. Four companies were stationed at Camp Bradford, the draft rendezvous of Maryland and Delaware. One detachment guarded the line of the Northern Central railroad. The headquarters of the regiment were at Cockeysville about 15 miles north of Baltimore. Returning to Massachusetts early in November, 1864, on the 10th of the month the regiment was mustered out of the United States service for the last time.

NINTH REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER INFANTRY

Three Years

The 9th Regt. Mass. Vol. Inf. was recruited in April and May, 1861, by Thomas Cass, formerly commander of a Massachusetts militia organization known as the Columbian Artillery. The regiment was composed almost wholly of men of Irish birth, and Cass became its first colonel. It was made up of six companies from Boston and one each from Salem, Marlboro, Milford, and Stoughton.

Through May and a part of June the regiment was at Camp Wightman on Long Island in Boston Harbor. Here on June 11, 1861, the regiment was mustered into the service, and on the 25th of the month it left for the seat of war. In addition to the national and state colors it carried an Irish flag.

Arriving at Washington it was placed in camp at Emmart's farm near 7th Street in the suburbs of the city, where it remained until after the battle of Bull Run. It was then transferred to Arlington Heights on the Virginia side of the Potomac, where it built Fort Cass. From August 4 to August 20 the brigade to which it was attached was commanded by Brig. Gen. William T. Sherman.

About the 29th of September the regiment was transferred to Miner's Hill, where it remained in winter quarters until March 10, 1862. Embarking at Alexandria, Va., March 21, on the 23d it reached Fort Monroe. Here it was assigned to Morell's (2d) Brigade, Porter's (1st) Division, Heintzelman's (3d) Corps. After the siege and capture of Yorktown, General Porter having now been promoted to the command of the 5th Corps, the 9th Massachusetts became a part of Griffin's (2d) Brigade, Morell's (1st) Division, Porter's (5th) Corps and served with it through the Peninsular campaign. It was engaged at Hanover Court House, May 27, at Mechanicsville, June 26, Gaines' Mill, June 27, and Malvern Hill, July 1. In the two last-named battles the regiment lost in killed and mortally wounded alone 111 officers and men, including Col. Cass, who was mortally wounded at Malvern Hill and died eleven days later at his home in Boston.

So severe were its losses at Gaines' Mill and Malvern Hill that the 9th was held in reserve at Second Bull Run, Antietam, and Fredericksburg, and suffered only slight losses in those engagements. The winter of 1862–63 was spent in camp near Falmouth, Va.

In the spring and summer of 1863 the regiment was present at Chancellorsville and Gettysburg, but met with no serious loss. After the Mine Run campaign in late November, 1863, the regiment went into winter quarters at Bealton Station on the Orange and Alexandria railroad.

In May, 1864, with Gen. Sweitzer in command of the brigade, Gen. Griffin of the division, and Gen. Warren of the corps, the 9th entered upon the Wilderness campaign. It suffered severe loss on the Orange turnpike in the Wilderness, May 5, 1864, and at Spottsylvania on the 8th and 12th, in these two engagements losing 78 men in killed and mortally wounded. At North Anna River and Bethesda Church near Cold Harbor the regiment was engaged but with comparatively slight loss.

On June 10, the period of its enlistment having expired, the regiment was withdrawn from the lines and sent home via White House Landing, Chesapeake Bay, and Washington, its recruits and re-enlisted men having been transferred to the 32d Regt. Mass. Veteran Volunteers. Arriving in Boston June 15, on the 21st of the month the regiment was mustered out of the service.

TENTH REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER INFANTRY

Three Years

The 10th Regt. Mass. Vol. Inf. was composed of companies from the Connecticut Valley and the western part of the State. Five of these companies were in existence before the Civil War broke out, and five were recruited in May and June, 1861. The regiment rendezvoused at Hampden Park, Springfield, Mass., and Henry S. Briggs, a Pittsfield officer who had commanded a company in the 8th Regt. Mass. Vol. Mil., was made its colonel.

The regiment was mustered into the service June 21, 1861. On July 10 it was reviewed by Gov. Andrew, and on the 15th received its colors presented by the ladies of Springfield. July 16 it entrained for Medford, Mass., where it remained at Camp Adams until the 25th, when it proceeded to Boston and took boats for Washington.

Arriving at the capital on the 28th, it first encamped at Kalorama Heights, Georgetown, where it remained until August 6, when it was brigaded with the 7th Mass., 2d R. I., and 36th N. Y. Inf., and two days later removed to Brightwood. Col. Darius N. Couch, formerly commander of the 7th Mass., now commanded the brigade. At Brightwood the regiment spent most of the winter of 1861–62. Here it assisted in building Fort Massachusetts, later known as Fort Stevens.

On March 27, 1862, the regiment left Washington by boat for Hampton Roads. On the 29th it disembarked at Hampton, Va., and soon joined in the advance toward Yorktown. During the succeeding weeks it participated in the Peninsular campaign, losing heavily at Fair Oaks and Malvern Hill. Here it formed a part of Devens' Brigade, Couch's Division, Keyes' (4th) Corps.

Recalled from Harrison's Landing the last of August, on Sept. 1, it arrived at Alexandria and united with Gen. Pope's army at Chain Bridge on the following day. About the middle of the month it joined in the advance toward South Mountain and Antietam, but did not reach these fields until the fighting was over. Later in the fall it became a part of the 2d Brigade, 3d Division, 6th Corps, and remained with this corps until its termination of service. It was present without loss at Fredericksburg, Dec. 13, 1862, then went into winter quarters between Falmouth and White Oak Church.

Early in May, 1863, it took part in the operations of the 6th Corps near Fredericksburg in coöperation with Hooker's flank movement to Chancellorsville. On May 3, it assisted in the capture of Marye's Heights, and had a part in the battle at Salem Heights on the same afternoon. Its loss in these engagements was very heavy. Its colonel, Henry L. Eustis, now became commander of the brigade.

The 10th participated with the rest of the 6th Corps in the Gettysburg campaign, suffering only slight loss. After being present at the battle of Rappahannock Station, Nov. 7, and participating in the Mine Run campaign during the latter part of the same month, the regiment retired to Brandy Station and went into winter quarters. It now belonged to Eustis' (4th) Brigade, Getty's (2d) Division, Sedgwick's (6th) Corps. Colonel Parsons now commanded the regiment.

On the first day of the battle of the Wilderness, May 5, 1864, Getty's Division, detached from its corps, held the crossing of the Plank and Brock roads and performed most gallant service, the 10th suffering severe loss. On the 8th, 10th, 12th, and 18th of May it was engaged at Spottsylvania, suffering very severely on the 12th, when it helped to support Hancock's assault on the Bloody Angle. Between May 5 and May 18, the regiment lost 220 officers and men, 45 of these being killed or mortally wounded.

After participating with slight loss in the operations around Cold Harbor, the regiment crossed the James River, June 16, and advanced toward Petersburg, being engaged for the last time June 18 with slight loss. On the 19th it was withdrawn from the front, and its recruits and re-enlisted men were transferred to the 37th Regt. On June 21 it began its voyage homeward. Washington was reached June 22, and Springfield, Mass., on the 25th. On July 1 and 6, 1864, the regiment was mustered out of the United States service.

ELEVENTH REGIMENT MASSACHUSETTS VOLUNTEER INFANTRY

Three Years (Re-enlisted)

The 11th Regt. Mass. Vol. Inf., known locally as the Boston Volunteers, was raised largely through the influence of George Clark, Jr., an old militia officer, who became its first colonel. Eight companies were recruited at 179 Court Street, Boston, after which, May 9, 1861, the regiment was ordered to Fort Warren, where two other companies were added. Here it was mustered into the service June 13, 1861. On June 17 the regiment was transferred to Camp Cameron, North Cambridge. It left the State for Washington, D. C., June 29, and was located on the Treasury grounds near the White House.

It was one of the three Massachusetts regiments present at First Bull Run, July 21, 1861, being brigaded with the 5th Massachusetts and 1st Minnesota in Franklin's Brigade, Heintzelman's Division of McDowell's army. Here it lost 88 men, 21 being killed or mortally wounded. In August it became a part of the famous Hooker Brigade. During the early fall it was encamped at Bladensburg, did picket duty on the Potomac above Washington, assisted in building forts to protect the capital, and finally, about October 1, was transferred to Budd's Ferry on the lower Potomac, where it passed the winter of 1861–62.

In the spring of 1862 it embarked for the Peninsula, where as a part of Grover's Brigade, Hooker's Division, Heintzelman's (3d) Corps it participated in the siege of Yorktown, the battle of Williamsburg, May 5, and the battle of Fair Oaks, June 25. In the other actions of the Peninsular campaign it was not heavily engaged. After the battle of Malvern Hill it retired to Harrison's Landing, where it remained until the middle of August, when it was transferred to the defenses of Washington.

Joining Gen. Pope's army near Warrenton, Jc., as a part of Grover's Brigade, Hooker's Division, it was engaged at Catlett's Sta., August 27, and was heavily engaged near Groveton (Manassas), August 29, where it led the assault on the famous railroad embankment, losing 28 officers and men killed or mortally wounded, including its lieutenant colonel, George E. Tileston.

After the Second Bull Run campaign was ended the regiment was encamped near Alexandria until November. Gen. Carr now succeeded Gen. Grover in command of the brigade. After Fredericksburg, where the regiment suffered small loss, it encamped near Falmouth for the winter of 1862–63.

As a part of Carr's Brigade, Berry's Division, Sickles' (3d) Corps, the 11th lost heavily at Chancellorsville, May 3, 1863, and suffered still more severely at Gettysburg, July 2, while defending the line of the Emmittsburg road. Here 37 officers and men were killed or mortally wounded. The regiment was active in the fall campaign near the Rappahannock in October, participated with loss in the Mine Run campaign in the latter part of November, and helped cover the retreat of the army to its old camps near Brandy Sta., where it spent the winter of 1863–64.

In the spring of 1864 the 11th was made a part of Brewster's Brigade, Mott's Division, Hancock's (2d) Corps. In the battle of the Wilderness, May 5 and 6, 1864, the regiment was heavily engaged on the Plank road with severe loss. At Spottsylvania, May 12, it participated in Hancock's assault on the Bloody Angle. About May 20 it received the recruits and re-enlisted men of the 1st Mass. Inf., which had completed its term of service. It participated with slight loss in the operations near the North Anna and at Cold Harbor. On June 12, the date of the expiration of service of the regiment, enough men re-enlisted to preserve its identity as the 11th Mass. Battalion, to which were added two companies of recruits and re-enlisted men of the 16th Regt. The colonel of the 11th, William Blaisdell, was killed before Petersburg, June 23, 1864, while temporarily commanding the "Corcoran Legion." The 11th was engaged before Petersburg in the operations of the summer and fall of 1864, was in the pursuit of Lee's army in April, 1865, and was near Appomattox the day of the surrender. Returning to Massachusetts, on July 14, 1865, the regiment was mustered out at Readville.
